SUBJECT: ELEVATOR PROFESSIONAL LICENSE EXPIRATION

2007-02

March 12, 2007

The Bureau of Elevator Safety has changed the annual expiration date for all Certificate of Competency (CC), Certified Elevator Inspector (CEI), and Registered Elevator Company licenses.

All new and renewal licenses issued by the bureau will expire on December 31 each year and must be renewed prior to that date.

All licenses issued on or after January 1, 2007, will expire on December 31, 2007.

Due to these changes, your expiration date listed on the bureau's website may not accurately reflect your actual 2007 license expiration date. You must refer to the printed license issued by the bureau to obtain your license expiration date.

Important Renewal Information

All licenses with a 2007 expiration date must be renewed by the expiration date listed on the printed license issued by the bureau.

All renewals require annual proof of the required continuing education, insurance, and applicable fees. These documents are due to the bureau every year by the expiration date listed on your license.

If your Certificate of Competency or Certified Elevator Inspector Company License card expires anytime in 2007, your license must be renewed by the date listed on the printed license issued by the bureau.

All renewal licenses issued in 2007 will expire December 31, 2007. You must renew again before December 31, 2007, and prior to December 31 each year thereafter.

Expired License Information

If your CC or CEI card expired anytime during 2006, you should have already renewed your license. If you renewed as required, you must renew by the due date listed on your license. If you did not renew your license by December 31, 2006, and you intend to continue operating under your license, you must renew immediately. Upon receipt of all required documentation and fees, the bureau will issue a renewal license with an expiration date of December 31, 2007.

Please contact us at 850.487.1395 with any questions regarding this expiration date change.
