

Financial Disputes: Did you know?

- $ That the association can have one bank account for both operating and reserve funds as long as it is for investment purposes and is accounted for separately?
- $ That the association is not allowed to have its funds placed in a personal account of a board member, unit owner or community association manager?
- $ That the association is not allowed to have its funds placed in an account of community association manager or management company?