

Construction Industry Licensing Board

The CILB does not currently have reciprocal licensing agreements with any other state.

The following is a list of states with exams previously found to be substantially similar to Florida's exam.

California General Contractor

California Building Contractor

Georgia Pollutant Storage Contractor

* The NASCLA General Contractors Exam (2009 forward) is accepted by many states and is substantially similar to all Florida Division 1 license trade knowledge exams (GC, BC, RC and related specialties).

Applicants should refer to the NASCLA Endorsement application requirements, which include passing the Florida Business & Finance exam.
