DISCUSSION

Proposed Rule Change Affecting Technician Certification

Dr. Gardner advised the board that the Executive Boards of the Florida Veterinary Medical Association (FVMA) and the Florida Veterinary Technician Association (FVTA) requests that the Florida Board of Veterinary Medicine be the sole body to credential veterinary technicians within the State of Florida. He stated that upon the technicians’ successful completion of the Veterinary Technician National Exam (VTNE), administered by the American Association of Veterinary State Boards (AAVSB) and a Florida Laws and Rules test to be administered by the Florida Board of Veterinary Medicine. He stated that Florida currently is the only state that had two (2) bodies certifying technicians. He stated that this has caused some confusion among technicians and veterinarians. He stated that there is a temporary window still available to increase the number of credentialed technicians in the state through Grandfathering or alternative pathways. He stated that the national exam will only be available to graduates of AVMA accredited technician schools after December 31, 2010. He stated that this leaves only four (4) exam dates for on the job trained technicians to be tested before the opportunity would close. He stated that this is only available in states where technicians are regulated by the veterinary board.

Dr. Vega stated that there are two (2) certifying bodies and this is a real mess that the two (2) bodies have created themselves and it is not fair that they want the board to clean up their mess. He stated that it is time that the FVMA realizes that they do not have to be in charge of certifying the technicians. He stated that the change would have to be done by the Legislature.

Ms. Lannon advised the board that it would take a statutory change to implement the proposal the board does not have statutory authority to certify technicians.

Dr. O'Neil stated that the board had always supported the technician’s efforts to get licensed. He stated that the board had told them several times to get the statute changed because the board did not have the authority to change the statute.

Dr. Shores advised the board that forty (40) states regulate veterinary technicians. He stated Florida is the only major state that does not regulate veterinary technicians. He stated if they were going to get technicians credentialed it was going to have to be done by the Board of Veterinary Medicine like it is in forty (40) other states. Dr. Shores advised the board that he was not going to spend the time to propose legislation and get up in the committee meeting and have the board say that they oppose it. He stated that he needed the board and staff to give the FVMA the opportunity to propose reasonable legislation that will allow the board to take over the credentialing. He asked the board chair to give him direction before he proposes legislation.

Ms. Lannon stated that the Legislature is going to ask why do technicians need to be certified. She asked if clients were suffering. She stated that the technicians now are qualified but why do they need to be certified.

Dr. O'Neil stated that the board does not have statutory authority.
Mr. Vaccaro advised the board that the department’s legislative package had been submitted to the Governor’s office and it was approved. He stated that in every single case in the Division of Professions less regulation was approved not more. He stated that they were not in a position to make a policy recommendation as far as what other interests would like to do. He stated that they could only provide an analysis and provide information on what it will cost and they take their lead from the Governor’s office.

Dr. O’Neil stated that the board had voted in the past to support this initiative. He stated that he is not going to ask the board to vote on it again. He stated that he would not go before the Legislature and oppose it himself. He stated that he does not have the authority to do that. He stated that the board does not have the statutory authority to do it. He stated that if the FVMA wants to put a bill forward then do it.

Dr. Gardner advised the board that the timeline is running and the AAVSB determines that. He stated that if the Board of Veterinary Medicine were the credentialing body the on the job trained technicians would be able to take the exam and become credentialed technicians. He stated that would increase the numbers. He stated that the AAVSB in January 2001 had a rule change that after December 2010 a VTA candidate must be a graduate in veterinary technology program accredited by the AVMA or the CVMA or a program approved by the regulatory board of the jurisdiction where the examination is given. He stated that the Board of Veterinary Medicine is the regulatory body not the Florida Veterinary Medical Association.

Dr. O’Neil stated that if the FVMA and the FVTA wanted the statute changed than he advised them to get it changed.

Statement of Estimated Regulatory Costs

Ms. Lannon advised the board that the board needed to approve the statement of regulatory costs and then the disciplinary guidelines rule could move forward.

MOTION: Mr. Dover made a motion to approve the Statement of Estimated Regulatory Costs (SERC).
